This workshop is an introduction to the principles of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA). It is an excellent starting point for parents, therapists, teachers, case workers, family and friends and an opportunity to review the basic principles involved in teaching new skills and creating and maintaining positive learning behavior in children and adults with autism. It is especially useful for parents and schools facing the need to provide introductory training when hiring and training staff to work with individuals with autism and other developmental disabilities. Workshops are open to anyone with a desire to learn more about ABA. No prior experience is necessary. Lecture, video, and handouts may be used.
